ADVANCED OVERS TS.

And WestSearch technology has analyzed search patterns on your issue.

- Most cited on this issue
- Most printed on this issue
- Most linked on this issue

How judges, attorneys, and legal scholars have cited, printed, and linked to a document influences its relevance when you search on a similar issue.

- WestSearch leverages these search patterns to help identify the most relevant documents
- Westlaw® has the most extensive search patterns from which to draw, so each document is smarter and more searchable than on any other service

WHAT'S IN IT FOR YOU:

Brings relevant information to the surface, connects highly related content, and ranks document importance.

WestSearch identifies only the most relevant information for your request.

From your terms, WestSearch produces a result list with the most relevant cases, statutes, analysis, briefs, and other court documents. But we don't stop there.

- Behind the scenes, WestSearch runs exhaustive secondary searches analyzing not only document text but dozens of document characteristics based on West legal content, editorial analysis, and search patterns – pulling in all documents with similar characteristics; and it all happens in seconds

WHAT'S IN IT FOR YOU:

WestSearch produces thorough results so you don't miss anything. It's so intelligent, it delivers the most relevant cases – even if they don't contain your exact search terms.

And it ranks the most relevant documents on top of your list.

WestSearch sorts your search results by placing the most relevant documents on top of the list.

- With results ranked by relevance, you don't have to sift through pages and pages of results to get what you need
- WestSearch also organizes your results by content type – cases, statutes, secondary materials, court documents, and more – so you can focus on what's important to you

WHAT'S IN IT FOR YOU:

You have efficiently and confidently found what you are looking for – and you know that your research is complete.

World-leading legal information – can provide total research confidence.
